

Brother and Sister

The brother and sister were walking along a country road, approaching a village.

The brother says:

—I'll buy some milk here.

And the sister says:

—And I'll crumble some bread into the milk!

The brother grabbed the sister by her braid and started tugging at it, saying:

—Don't crumble bread into the milk, or it'll go sour, don't crumble bread into the milk, or it'll go sour!

They reached the village, but no one sold them any milk.
